Joule Hotel, Dallas

Terrazzo was first used hundreds of years ago as a flooring developed from salvaged rubble from quarries and stone fabrication shops. Terrazzo is essentially the oldest “Green” flooring ever used. The recycled material content allows for great LEED potential in today’s market.

Terrazzo is offered primarily in epoxy and portland cement formats. Terrazzo offers an unlimited palette of color and aggregate blends making your design possibilities endless.

Benefits of terrazzo are: long life with low cost, ease of maintenance, seamless surface that enhances noise reduction.
